DECEMBER 2014

DEAR PARENTS AND WELL WISHERS,

After the hectic extracurricular activities packed in the month of Nov 2014, the focus shifted back to academics in Dec 2014. December commenced with students being tested out in Unit Tests. All students persevered through the exams and needless to mention almost all of them excelled with flying colours. In keeping with the Schools emphasis on a more rounded approach to academics, activities related to the same continued to be conducted at regular intervals.

Ganith Week.

The School celebrated Ganith Week from 16th to 22nd Dec 2014 to commemorate the birth anniversary of the legendary mathematician Shri Srinivasa Ramanujan. The endeavour was to actively promote interest of students in Mathematics and its applications. Students were apprised of the ways by which Maths touched our daily lives from ancient times. Class I to V students actively participated in various competitions which included Slogan Writing, Chart Making, Math Quiz, Poster Making, Essay Writing Competitions etc. The pictures capture the essence of all the activities.

English Literary Fest- Spectra Ingenium.

It is often said that English is a global language. This accidental historical development is bridging the frontiers of the New World Order. A Global means of communication, English has expedited the bringing down of all barriers for trade and human development. To highlight the importance of English, a literary fest was held at School between 16th to 19th December 2014. Aptly titled "SPECTRA INGENIUM", it proved to be a literary feast for one and all. This fest showcased the amalgamation of literature, vocabulary, self expression, poetic and debating talent of children. Competitions at all levels were held throughout the week. The events were carefully crafted to meet the needs of the respective age group of students. The highlight of this fest was the activities where children enjoyed participating whilst learning something unique.

Gift Wrapping Competition.

Gift wrapping competition was held on 17th December as part of CCA activity. The students were at their creative best and came up with interesting and innovative ideas to wrap the gifts. It proved to be challenging for the Judges to pick the winners as every wrapping was unique and displayed the essence of their creativity .

Christmas Celebrations.

A special assembly was conducted by Classes IV & V to celebrate the spirit of Christmas. A specially created crib depicting the birth of Christ and the presence of the three Kings was set up on the stage. The children were dressed in Christmas colours and sang carols to highlight the festivities associated with it. The School too was decorated with Stars and other decorations to highlight the Christmas Week.

The School broke for a brief New Years Sojourn on 24 December 2014. It does not fail to amaze the school to see students breaking into euphoric celebrations on the last working day. The School would like to wish all Students a great, fulfilled and safe holidays.

We wish one and all a Happy 2015.

With Best Wishes,

Manju Balasubramanyam
